Chips

The prize story of the week concerns Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the George Washington University, who on leaving his office the other day, discovered four co-eds comfortably ensconced in his car, nonchalantly flipping cigarette ashes over the carpet and upholstery.

"Please," the President is reported to have said, "May I have my car? I want to go home."

For the information of future smoker-ettes, the Proxy drives a blue Buick, license tag 758.

The age of reason is rapidly approaching. We read that the German Club is planning a banquet at which there will be no speeches. Had this event been adequately advertised, it would have been a sell-out, we believe.

A reporter handed-in a sheet of paper this week with the following expressive comment: "Chi Omega Society, NONE."

Tonight we get an opportunity to see the new coach, who just arrived in town yesterday morning, and to hear his views and those of the President on matters athletic. If all those who commented adversely on the football situation during the past season will be present, and have their say, it should be a most interesting session.

In order that women may not have an excuse for loitering and congregating on stairways, landings, and in bulletin boards, The Hatchet in this issue publishes exclusively the examination schedule. Notice how for the most part Saturday and Sunday are free for study. The honor roll for this semester should be much longer.

Mr. Chief Justice William Howard Taft hits campus loafers and campus activity hounds in his recent address before the Psi Upsilon national convention. We agree with him there, but when he asserts men in college in his day were more serious than those in college today, we consider the three thousand G. W. students who work all day and attend classes in the evening; we observe hundreds of students belonging to this or that organization, working year in and year out with no thought of pay; we think of the large number of G. W. folk on the honor roll; we watch six thousand students of the University going their independent way, self-reliant and thoughtful.

Then we are forced to the belief that no matter how brilliant a man may be, after a certain age he begins to look with askance on the younger generation, and to muse on the good old days. (Dr. Moss, please note.)

Since this Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States shifted its headquarters to the University, it has indulged in high ideas. It is now proposed to send official communications by radio, through the cooperation of the G. W. Radio Club. So now we'll expect the air to be cluttered up with "Say, Hoozit College, why don't you pay your dues?" and the reply will come, "O. K. Just as soon as we collect for a few more ads, we'll send it special delivery."

Next these birds will be attending conventions in airplanes, and maybe we'll get rid of a few of them.

Or perhaps they'll compete, too, for this airplane that is being offered for a composition or something or other.

Our Med. School is like Ol' Man River. It "jes' keeps rollin' along." Second only to Harvard, we see, and Hahvahd was founded back in 1636, and G. W. began around 1825. Not so bad, not so bad.

Overloaded as the campus is with organizations, we welcome the two new fraternities, one in foreign service and the other composed of men outstanding in all activities. Twenty years from now we expect great honor to come to the University from the first group, so far as international affairs are concerned. And we expect the latter group to solidify that elusive thing called school spirit at the University in the immediate future, and who knows what they'll do later?

They won't let us join either one, but anyhow, we can do what they can't. We wish you all kinds of luck on your exams, and say so long until September. See you in Elmer's Summer Seminary.

DICK ROLLO.

FOREIGN SERVICE STUDENTS FORM NEW FRATERNITY

Delta Phi To Discuss Foreign Trade Practices and Customs

LUIS ROBERTS NAMED AS NEXT YEAR'S PRESIDENT

Local Group Plans to Petition Delta Phi Epsilon For Affiliation

Delta Phi Foreign Service Fraternity has been formed at George Washington as the culmination of a series of meetings of the foreign service students, held during the past few months. This is the first fraternity of the kind on the campus and bids fair to create a very important position for itself, especially in view of the new developments in the School of Government looking toward specializing in foreign service instruction.

The charter group includes outstanding students in campus life who are preparing for a career in some branch of foreign service work, among them some who will enter the Foreign Service of the United States, having passed the diplomatic and consular examinations set by the Department of State in the very near future.

Delta Phi fraternity has for its purposes the offering of special advantages to students training for the foreign service in the University, through the facilities which the fraternity may give by way of group discussion on the training, the standards, the details of diplomatic and consular service abroad, foreign trade, foreign investment, banking and similar fields in which the members are interested, these made the more practical by opportunities given to hear experts attached to government or business offices address the members.

Group Addressed by Dr. Jaeger

At one of the recent social functions of the fraternity held at the home of Professor C. Walter Young, the group was addressed by Dr. Walter E. Jaeger, Professor of Diplomatic History in Georgetown University and in the University of Maryland. Dr. Jaeger is a national vice president of Delta Phi Epsilon, national foreign service fraternity, which was founded at Georgetown in 1920. The George Washington University local expects to petition this national fraternity for membership.

Other chapters of the national, Delta Phi Epsilon, are located at New York University, University of Southern California, University of California, and Detroit University.

Delta Phi has perfected its organization for the next academic year by an election of officers held recently. Luis Roberts, a member of the national fraternity, Delta Phi Epsilon, was elected president; Harold Stamen, vice president; Paul Haney, secretary; Howard Payne, treasurer, and Frank Weitzel, fraternity historian. Professor C. Walter Young, who with Mr. Roberts has been principally responsible for the founding of this first foreign service fraternity on the George Washington campus, is the faculty adviser.

The charter membership of the fraternity includes, besides those named, H. MaDonne and A. Kargue, who will enter the consular service, Kenneth Jackson and Arthur Kimball, who are attached to the Department of Commerce, Ansel Taylor, attached to the Department of State, Quentin Watson, of the Bureau of Railway Economics, Wesley Jones, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, J. M. Mitchell, of the Library of Congress, George Simms and Victor LaMenager, prominent students taking the foreign service course in the University, and William Hardy, who upon graduation in June, will shortly thereafter proceed to Liberia as a representative of the Firestone Rubber Company. Paul Haney and Harold Stamen, of the fraternity officers, are attached to the Department of Commerce, and with the other officers will return to the University in the autumn to continue or complete their foreign service training.

BOARD OF CHERRY TREE CHOOSES STAFF EDITORS

Assistants Not To Be Announced Until Next Fall

Cherry Tree Staff Editors were appointed at a meeting of the newly elected 1930 Board last week. Sorority editorship was given to Maude Hudson, Fraternities to Walter Colson, Features to Edith Norris, Law School to Richard Hill, Art to Archie Burgess. Publications to Bill Dismar, Debate to Louise Feinstein, and Dramatics to Harriette Rissler.

Assistants on the staff have not yet been appointed, and any other people who wish to make application for positions on the staff should do so this spring. The complete staff will not be announced until next fall.

Fraternities Cooperate In Choosing Stellar Team From Each League

William F. Dismar, Jr., Hatchet Sports Editor, Compiles All-Star Teams By Means of Circular Letters Sent to all Fraternities Asking for Every Position

ALL-STAR FRATERNITY TEAMS OF BOTH LEAGUES

LEAGUE A	Pos.	LEAGUE B

Ferguson (KA)	P.	Battle (TDX)
Perry (PSK)	1B.	Clapper (Acacia)
Neville (KA)	2B.	Eberly (DTD)
Lopeman (SX)	3B.	Knapp (SAE)

Terry (KA)	LF.	Billisly (SPE)
H. Murphy (PSK)	CF.	Sterrett (TDX)
Marshall (KA)	RF.	Leffler (SPE)
Brown (PSK)		Benicke (TDX)

Well, here it is!—With the exception of two or three fraternities who failed to send in their choices, it represents the teams picked by all of the fraternities baseball players in both leagues. Approximately 75 players participated in the voting and the men picked for the two "all-star" teams received the majority of the votes in every case.

In each league, players from the winners and runners-up are found most frequently on the mythical lines, with R. A. and Phi Sigma Kappa each receiving four choices on the nine picked for their league. In the other group of nines, Theta Delta Chi placed three men from their championship ning, while S. A. E. and S. P. E. received two on the "all" team.

It would be hard to tell which pitchers are the best of the above quartet. Although Ferguson, K. A. ace, was the only one to go undefeated, two of the other three were downed only once—Perry, P. S. K., bowing in his team's defeat by Kappa Alpha, and Clapper taking a licking from the champion Theta Delta Chi. T. D. X. also was defeated only once, when he lost to Delta Tau Delta in one of the biggest surprises of the year. At any rate, it should be a real pitchers' battle when Ferguson and Battle clash in the championship K. A. Theta Delta Chi game next Sunday.

HISTORY CLUB STAGES ITS ANNUAL BANQUET

Dr. Swisher is Present; Discussion of Farm Relief is Feature of Evening

The seventh annual banquet of the History Club was held on May 11, at the Grace Dodge Hotel. The guests of honor were Dr. Chas. C. Swisher, Professor Emeritus of History, Prof. G. M. Churchill, Prof. E. L. Kayser, Prof. L. J. Ragatz and Prof. W. S. Holt.

According to the custom of "taking off" some current political question at each of the banquets, the program this year was a travesty on Farm Relief and many and varied were the proposals put forth for the aid of the distressed farmer. The speakers were introduced by Margaret Klein, who said that President Hoover, who was faced with the farm relief problem, had called upon the club to help him settle it. Miss Klein then called upon the various delegates for their suggestions.

Eleanor Appich, as representative of the North, suggested that a plan be devised for warming a stream of water which would flow along the Northeastern coast and thus produce a climate more favorable to the production of farm products. Mildred Green, representing the East, suggested that since "relief" was synonymous with "redress," it would be a good plan to redress the farmer. She said that clothes made the man and that Congress should pass a bill requiring all farmers to wear derbys since such hats would not only raise the morale of the farmer, but would be serviceable as peck measures and feed baskets.

Lindsey Duval, as representative of the South, imitated a Congressman with many things on his mind and laid particular stress on the necessity for nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment so that a greater market could be provided for "cawin." Maynard Lundgren, representing the West, posed as a delegate from the Amalgamated Gangsters, with headquarters in Chicago, and told of the plan used by his organization to relieve the farmer. Their plan has been to meet as many farmers as possible when they arrived at the various railroad stations and to relieve them of their pocketbooks, gold-rimmed spectacles and securities.

Prof. Churchill as Secretary of Commerce and Prof. Kayser as Secretary of Agriculture were called in to help solve the knotty problem. Prof. Churchill mentioned several plans to help the farmer, but said that nearly all of them came under the jurisdiction of some other department so there didn't seem to be much that "he could do." Prof. Kayser spoke of the Debutante, that is, the debt which he and many students of George Washington University owed to Dr. Swisher (honorary president of the History Club), for the inspiration that they had received from him, and for the many services he had rendered to the University.

Dr. Swisher, in the role of President Hoover, closed the program by thanking the speakers for the helpful suggestions they had made for farm relief, and promised to lay them before Congress at an early date, particularly before Senator Borah.

Watson "Maud" Gram, retiring Athletic Director, who goes to Allegheny College next fall, will both be present.

MEDICAL SCHOOL STANDS SECOND

George Washington Medical School Ranks Above Johns Hopkins; Below Harvard

FEW FAILURES SHOWN

Strict Supervision Has Retained High Position for George Washington for Many Years

That the George Washington University Medical School stands between that of Harvard and Johns Hopkins in the success of its graduates in medical "State board" examinations, is shown in the result of the examinations for 1928 published in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The George Washington School of Medicine has held this position for ten years, not being quite able to reach the Harvard level, but steadily holding above Johns Hopkins, according to Dr. W. C. Borden, Dean of the School of Medicine.

Out of the seventy-eight George Washington graduates examined, two failed, the percentage of failures being 2.6, while only one of the eighty-eight Harvard graduates failed, making the percentage 1.1. Johns Hopkins had ninety-one graduates examined with three failures, bringing the percentage to 3.3. The number of graduates from Pennsylvania was one hundred and thirty with three failures; Yale, forty-six, with six failures; Columbia, eighty-seven, with seven failures; Georgetown, sixty-four, with five failures.

Of this group, George Washington, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania, and Yale had failures before the New York State Board only, which is the most rigid of all the State boards. George Washington was the only one of the group which did better than the general average for graduates of all schools examined in that State, that is, 10.5 per cent against the general average of 12.8 per cent. The general percentage of failures in Yale was 64.5 per cent.

At George Washington, the Dean of the School of Medicine holds a conference every two weeks with the heads of the divisions, who bring in reports of any students they consider deficient in their work. After this conference, if a man is slowing up in one subject, he is interviewed by the chief of that division; if he is deficient in more than one subject the dean interviews him to find out what the administration keeps in touch with all the students.

At the end of the year, a man that fails in one subject is required to take an exam and pass in that subject before he can be admitted to the school again.

"If he fails of advancement," says Dean Borden, "and we think he is good material, we may allow him to remain in school and repeat a year. A repeated year is made up of subjects in which the student has shown weakness. He is not required to repeat subjects in which he has shown proficiency."

COLLEGE CRUISE USES DR. DONALDSON'S BOOK

"International Economic Relations" Elicits Favorable Comment From Authorities

"International Economic Relations," by Dr. John Donaldson, Professor of Commerce and head of the Department of Economics here, is being used as a textbook on the College Cruise Around the World, according to word just received from Longmans, Green and Company, publishers.

This "university afloat" is the one which, at its inception several years ago and in each subsequent year has offered Professor Donaldson a chair of International Relations.

The London Times says, "Any volume that came from an editor of the admirable 'Commerce Yearbook' would be received with the respect of students of contemporary trade problems. Gratitude is added to respect as one reads through the orderly conspectus of world economic relations which Mr. Donaldson has provided. The treatment of controversial topics is eminently judicial and fair."

The American Economic Review says of Dr. Donaldson's work, "A diligent compilation and organization which will undoubtedly make it useful for reference and text purposes."

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1929

FEATHER-HEADS AND SUCH

In making a whimsical criticism of extra-curriculum activities and superficialities in the modern educational system, and a more pointed reproof to those students who fail to take advantage of their opportunities for learning, Chief Justice Taft said:

"What do they go to college or a university for if they don't go for scholarship? There are a great many who don't. I agree, but those who do not, don't go for the proper purpose, go for social reasons, sometimes to establish themselves by reason of the fact that they are called college men, but those men don't understand what they are there for. When a man grows as old as I have, he then feels like resorting to profanity as he ought to do, at the misconception of life and the use of education and the use of universities by these feather-headed young men. It is a dreadful waste."

In making this comment Justice Taft struck very close to the cause of the alleged decline in scholarship in higher educational institutions. In the universities and colleges of former years where sterner discipline was held over the student, the young men attended for a fixed purpose and held to their work with a seriousness which resulted in both high scholarship and high standard of efficiency.

Today the university, and this is especially true of an urban institution like George Washington University, is rapidly becoming the playground of the idle who think it desirable to bask in a collegiate or intellectual atmosphere for a number of years before engaging in some occupation which has been conveniently prepared for them.

It is true, of course, that many of these "feather-heads" are to be found in attendance at our modern educational institutions, but it is not likewise true that in the total of increased enrollment there is also an increase in the number of serious-minded students who are aiming at a definite goal and are following a closely defined path to attain that goal?

Inasmuch as the person who is merely in attendance is usually of such a weak character as not to materially affect the stronger willed, serious student, he can be of little harm. He is merely one of the disadvantages which come with expansion, and must, therefore, be endured. Let us say "must be endured" advisedly because it is this kind of student who swells the enrollment at our colleges and it is through this enlarged enrollment that modern and unlimited facilities are made possible. Unlimited equipment make it possible for the real student to develop his talents to the utmost.

This is in no way to be taken as a defense in behalf of the idle "feather-head" who is dismissed as unworthy of worry and further consideration, but rather as an expression of hope that the class of serious students is not declining in number and that it is taking full advantage of the opportunities which the attendance of the idle body makes possible.

THE Colonial Wig dance in Corcoran Hall Saturday night (which, by the way was very successful) will probably be the last official social event before exams. "Immediately following them, however, numerous parties have been planned for the survivors, if any. S. A. E., T. U. O. and Kappa Sigma are to give dances on June 7, Phi Sigma Kappa's graduate dance will be held at the Indian Springs Club on June 8, Chi Omega's dance in honor of the seniors is planned for the sixth at the Columbia Country Club and Pi Phi is planning one for the tenth.

Beta Alpha Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha held its spring dance at the Indian Springs Country Club Saturday, May 11.

The cast, staff and chorus of the Troubadours were entertained at Dr. Bolwell's estate on Sunday, May 19. Golf, swimming and tennis were offered for entertainment, and a delightful buffet supper was served.

Chi Omega entertained at dinner in their rooms on Monday, May 20, in honor of Dean Rose. Dr. Ragatz was also a guest.

Alpha Pi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi celebrated the anniversary of their Founders Day (May 15, 1851) with a banquet at the Carlton Hotel, Wednesday, May 15. Prior to the banquet Mrs. Marvin, Miss Cooper, and Miss Ballenger were installed as patronesses. Dinner was served to about fifty members, alumnae and guests. Entertainment was offered in musical selections by Dorothy Albert and readings by Cloude Senetiere. A silver cup was presented to Margaret Rees by the active chapter as being the most outstanding girl in the group this year.

Phi Delta Delta entertained at lunch on Wednesday at the A. A. U. W. in honor of their Province Secretary, Mrs. John Benson Clark, who was in Washington attending the convention of the American Library Association. Mrs. Clark is librarian of the New York Bar Association, and editor of the Law Library Journal. Other guests were Elizabeth Eggert, of Bridgeport, Connecticut, and Mildred Dager, Librarian of Western Reserve University.

Sigma Kappa entertained at a luncheon in the rooms last Friday in honor of Miss Emma Kinny, Grand Historian of the sorority.

Rena Bernstein went to Montreal, Canada, last week end.

Hazel Gabbard and Melaney Uhlig were representatives of the K. D. chapter at a dance given by Kappa Xi at the Bannockburn Club.

Dean Rose was guest of honor at a luncheon given by Sigma Kappa at the Hay-Adams House, Monday, May 13. Among the other guests were Miss Alice Henning, and Mrs. Joshua Evans.

Alpha Delta Theta gave a supper last Monday night at the Brick Wall Inn, in honor of the new officers of this chapter who were installed at that time.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA

Mary Pickford in her first talking production, "Coquette," is featured at Loew's Columbia Theater this week. John Mack Brown plays opposite Mary in this picture, produced by United Artists. It is an adaptation from the famous play.

Metro-Movietone acts, the M-G-M News, the Fox Movietone News, short subjects and the Columbia Orchestra under Claude Burrows completes the program.

EARLE

"Saturday's Children," the Maxwell Anderson comedy-drama, which held Broadway in its spell for nine months and won the Pulitzer Prize as the best play of 1927, is the featured attraction this week at the Earle Theater. The cast includes Charles Lane, Anna Schaeffer, Alma Tell, Lucien Littlefield, Albert Conti, Marcia Harris, and little Jo An Pierce.

The added features include a new Paramount laugh fest, "When Julius Caesar Ran a Newspaper," which features Edward Everett Horton and Sam Hardy; an issue of the Earle Topical Review and the Earle Orchestra, offering "Gems From Favorite Operas," under direction of Daniel Breeskin.

FOX

Another star of the stage, Miss Mary Duncan, recruited for the talking pictures by William Fox, makes her debut in Washington at the Fox Theater this week in "Through Different Eyes." Costarred with Miss Duncan are Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe. John Irving Fisher as master of ceremonies introduces in addition to his own contribution, many Broadway players. Leon Brustloff directs the Fox Jazzmanians through a stage overture, as well as furnishing accompaniment for the entertainers. The Gorgeous Foxettes have several dance routines, and world events via the Fox Movietone News round out the program.

LITTLE THEATER

The "Life of Beethoven," film biography of the composer, is presented to movie and music lovers by the Film Arts Guild at the Little Theater as the feature this week.

The role of the master is played by Fritz Kortner, leading man of the State Theater of Berlin, with Ernst Baumeister in part of Joseph Haydn.

The picture was directed by Hans Otto and produced in Germany and Austria at the authentic locales which Beethoven visited. It is the story of Beethoven, beginning with his early childhood and continuing through his life.

METROPOLITAN

The flash of swords in the setting sun, and a duel in the mountain camp of the hard-riding Riffs give some idea of the type of "The Desert Song," which continues at the Metropolitan. John Boles plays the Red Shadow, and other roles are enacted by Carlotta King, Louise Fazenda, Myrna Loy, Harvey Gates adapted the Harbach-Hammerstein-Mandel plot, while the Vitaphone Symphony Orchestra plays the delightful score by Sigmund Romberg in its entirety.

RIALTO

"Syncopation," first of radio's singing, dancing and dialogue film productions, featuring Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, is to be the attraction at the Rialto Theater this week. The producers have made their first feature with an eye to both plot and musical accompaniment and as a result it is billed as extravaganza, designed to give the effect of a Broadway operetta. The "haunting" melodies found in "Syncopation" include "I'll Always Be in Love With You," "Do, Do Something," "Jericho," "Tin Pan Parade," "Mary," "How About Me" and others.

PALACE

John Barrymore, the distinguished actor, is the star at Loew's Palace this week in the United Artists production, "Eternal Love." In the cast are several well-known stars, including Camilla Horn, Hobart Bosworth and Victor Varconi.

On the stage Herbert Rawlinson presides over Frank Cambria's production, "Castle of Dreams," and with the aid of the Palace Syncopators introduces his version in music of the Dempsey-Tunney epic of the ring. Caltes brothers in comedy dancing, Luster brothers in acrobatics, Henry Mack, tenor; Sybil Fagen, whistler; Spoor Parsons in dancing, Julia Parker and the Foster girls, ballet, complete the entertainment.

THETA DELTA CHI TRIMS ACACIA FOR TITLE OF LEAGUE

Winners, By 4-1 Victory, Earn Right to Meet K. A. For Championship

DELTA TAU DELTA DROPS FINAL CHANCE IN UPSET

S. P. E.'s Stage-Ninth-Inning Rally to End All Hope of Deltas to Tie

By trouncing the highly-fouted Acacia nine, 4-1, while the Deltas were losing their last chance for the title by bowing to S. P. E., the Theta Delta Chi's took the championship of League B last Sunday afternoon, thereby earning the right to meet Kappa Alpha for the championship of the fraternities. These two nines are expected to come together next Sunday to fight for the baseball cup awarded each year to the winner of the interfraternity championship.

Probably one of the biggest upsets of the season came in the S. P. E.-Delta fracas which the former won by a last-minute rally, 6-5. Had the Deltas won this game they would have met Theta Delta in the afternoon for the championship of their league. As it turned out, Theta Delta was awarded the title by being the only team in League B to lose less than two games.

It was a heart-breaker for the Deltas to lose. Going into the last inning with a 5-1 lead, the S. P. E.'s started to slam the ball to all corners of the lot and before a man could be retired, had chased over 5 runs to put them in front, 6-5. Harry Ruddiman, ace of the Delta pitching corps, was rushed into the fray late in the frame, but not soon enough to stave off the vicious winning rally.

Early in the game, the Deltas had scored 3 runs and appeared on their way to their chance for the tie, but the last-minute assault ended all their hopes.

Score by innings:

D. T. D.	0 0 3 0 1 0 5
S. P. E.	0 0 0 1 0 0 5

Batteries—Delta: Taur Delta, Eberly, Ruddiman, and Christopher; S. P. E., Brown and Healy.

Scoring three runs in the first inning as the result of Dick Battle's long hit, the Theta Deltas removed their last obstacle in the way for the title of League B, by whipping Acacia, 4-1. The losers were able to obtain only 5 hits off Battle, Theta Delta ace. Although the winners got only two hits themselves, they profited by their opponents' errors and chased over the winning runs in the very first inning.

Both pitchers were in rare form, with Clapper striking out 15 men, and Battle whiffing 11.

Score by innings:

T. D. X.	3 0 0 0 1 0 0 4

Batteries—Theta Delta, Battle and Palge; Acacia, Clapper and Riddle.

INDIANS DEFEAT COLONIAL TEAM

Women's Tennis Tourney At Williamsburg Saturday Ends 4-1 For Wm. & Mary

TURNBULL WINS MATCH

Women's Interclass Tennis Eliminations Have Progressed to Second Round

William and Mary downed the George Washington co-ed tennis team in a close and extremely well-played match on the William and Mary courts on Saturday, May 18, by a score of 4-1.

Jenny Turnbull, number one on the G. W. team, chalked up the only score for the Colonials by defeating Elizabeth Tanner, W. and M. 6-4, 7-5. The girls were very well matched and both played an easy and beautiful game, stroking from back of the line most of the time. Occasionally one of them dashed to the net to make a spectacular placement. Each consistently won her own serve until by a supreme effort Turnbull crashed through Tanner's defense to end the set after a long struggle. This was true of both sets.

Mary Sproul of G. W. gave her opponent, Virginia Alexander, some keen competition. The Williamsburg girl, however, won the match 7-5, 6-2.

Corella Morris, the only girl to win her match in the struggle with American University last week, was defeated 6-2, 6-2, by Catherine DuPuy. The match was much closer, however, than the score seems to indicate, many games going to deuce.

The first doubles match showed good playing. Billie Wright and Naomi Crumley of the Buff and Blue team, proved an almost unbeatable combination for Helen Osmond and Margaret Orgran. The match was extremely close and exciting, ending in a score of 9-7, 10-8 in favor of the Indians. Every girl won her serve until the very last when W. and L. crashed through to a victory. Wright used her hard back court drives while Crumley kept guard at net.

The other doubles match was well played, but the girls were not as evenly matched and G. W. finally lost 6-2, 6-1. Mary Sproul and Jenny Turnbull of G. W. played Elizabeth Tanner and Catherine DuPuy of William and Mary.

Singles Interesting

The most interesting matches were the first singles between Turnbull and Tanner and the first doubles between Wright and Crumley, and Orgran and Osmond. The girls all played well and earnestly. They were beaten not so much by superior playing as by power of endurance. No one was off form. Although the Colonials were defeated, the playing was a credit to the school.

The fact that the G. W. girls were on unfamiliar courts that were not up to standard condition may account for some of the lost points. It is recognized, however, that this year's team is the best that William and Mary College has ever put out.

The Colonials journeyed to Williamsburg late Friday and returned Sunday morning. They were well entertained in the meantime.

Women's interclass tennis is progressing slowly due to a late start, but the first round has finally been completed. In the second round Turnbull defeated Tray; Kise defaulted to Brantley who will play Aal; Butler defeated Breckenridge 8-6, 6-2 and was given a by to the next round.

RIFLEMEN SECOND TO NAVY IN FINAL MATCH

Last Saturday the G. W. Rifle team fired in the Intercollegiate Service Rifle Championship match, held at Annapolis, and won second place for the Eastern States. Navy took first place with 1987, while V. M. I. took third with 1922. The match was fired for the championship of the United States and may have been fired in other sections of the country at the same time, but the position of Navy for National Championship and of G. W. for National second-place is not likely to be altered.

Three G. W. men, Tomelden, Lane and Harrell tied for high G. W. score with 179 each, Tomelden winning the title by shooting the best score at the longest range—49 at 600 yards.

After the match the team elected Ted Harrell captain for next year. Harrell started from the beginner's stage this year.

Frank Parsons, Varsity Coach, is practicing for the International Rifle Team and going well. The elimination match will be held at Quantico early in June to determine who shall be on the American Team.

RAGATZ AND HOLT WORK ON HISTORY

Second Volume of "International Year Book of Historical Bibliography" Started

FIRST VOLUME ON PRESS
Five Languages Represented and Thirteen Fields of History Included in Book

The International Yearbook of Historical Bibliography whose American contributors are Assistant Professors Lowell J. Ragatz and W. S. Holt of the History Department at George Washington, has recently gone to press in Paris and will be published. Work on a second volume, "The International Yearbook of Historical Bibliography," cataloguing 1927 material, has been started and this volume will be published in the spring of 1930.

The American end of the work which is being done by Dr. Ragatz and Dr. Holt is a bibliography of periodical articles and books published in the United States during 1927 dealing with history in one way or another. Dr. Holt handled the subject of American History and Dr. Ragatz covered all other fields.

Most of the work accomplished by Ragatz and Holt was done in the Library of Congress, the State Department Library, the Library of the Carnegie Institute for International Conciliation, the Labor Bureau Library, the Robert Brookings Graduate School Library and the Institute of the Economic Library.

The Yearbook is being financed by a grant of $15,000 from the "Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Foundation" to finance the project for a period of five years. The first volume contains about 800 pages, and 10,000 books and articles are listed in the work, classified according to the country and subject matter with which they deal.

This book contains five languages: English, German, French, Spanish, and Italian, and the plan includes thirteen fields, among which are Greek History, Medieval History, Modern Political History, and Modern Social and Economic History.

Approximately one-tenth of the work in this first volume was done by Drs. Holt and Ragatz who are now compiling material for the second volume.

Newman Club Holds Last Meeting of Year

Delegates Named to National Convention at Cincinnati in June

Dr. Mitchel Cartwright, of Baltimore, addressed the Newman Club at its last regular meeting of the year on Thursday, May 16, in Building 5, Room 12.

His talk took the form of an illustrated lecture on a trip to Italy and France, stressing especially the cathedrals of the two countries, their architectural beauties and their influence on history. He also related several anecdotes of his own life and where he was ordained.

Melita Chavez, Joe O'Connor and Nash Knapp were selected as delegates to the National Convention to be held in Cincinnati in June.

The social activities of the club closed with three brilliant affairs. The first was the Newman Prom, held at the Kenwood Country Club on May 3rd. This was attended by seventy-five couples, including out-of-town couples from the Newman Clubs of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Johns Hopkins and William and Mary.

The next evening a dance was held at the home of Miss Katherine Wilson, in honor of the visiting members.

The last event was the annual luncheon at the Congressional Country Club on Saturday, May 11. At this time, Dr. John Cartwright, the chaplain of the club, was presented with a Newman pin as a token of gratitude for the wonderful work he has done.

New Book Is Composed Of Works of Columbia University Students

COPY, 1929. Selected Stories, Plays, Poems and Essays from work of students in the Writing Courses, Columbia University. 262 pp. New York: Appleton and Co., $2.00, 1929.

Johnson declared that no man but a jackass ever wrote except for money. All contributions in this anthology have not only been written for money but have been published in popular periodicals ranging from the American Review to the World.

The Writers' Club at Columbia for the past five years has issued a symposium of the best work done by students in special writing courses in the Extension and Home Study Department of the University.

Half of the authors contributing to the present volume are professional editors, novelists, free lance and syndicate writers. Others are doctors, librarians, book dealers, executives and housewives, who look upon writing as a subject of secondary importance.

In speaking on writing in the Introduction, Angus Burrell, Assistant Professor of English, says, "Copy, appearing year after year, is surely one kind of answer to those unsympathetic critics who affirm that writing cannot be taught. In the sense that French, calculus or chemistry can be taught, writing cannot be taught. It is an art, not a body of knowledge. But in the sense that painting, sculpture, musical composition, and dancing can be taught, writing can be taught and is. Writing is an intimately organic function not unlike the functions of growth and reproduction."

The thirteen short stories presented are written in an easy narrative vein with light touches of humor and pathos. They deal with simple folk—servants, farmers, clerks, pugilists, business men. Each character is well delineated and shows the work of keen analysis and clever observation. "Never said a Mumbly Word," story of a lynch-firing, "Life and Death on Ninety-fifth Street," on the death of an old prize fighter, and "The Mold," a farmer's life, seem to "strive your heart and put an ache in your throat at the same time."

Essays are on Yehudi Menuhin, Joseph Lister, Intelligence test for aliens, Japanese baseball and child drama. "Love is Enough," a three-act play, is the only contribution in which an amatory theme finds extensive expression.

The poems, judged by Mark Van Doren, are short ranging from ten to twenty lines. Titles read "Aspiration," "Gifts," "Cricket," "Desert Song-Night," "Perennial," and "Silver Birch."

Composition of the whole symposium is good, but what exceptional merit they possess to be placed in book form is a question in the reviewer's mind. He harbors the supposition that "Copy" is an intelligent bit of propaganda to induce aspiring writers to the merits of Columbia's writing courses. One is not told out of how many thousand failures these successful efforts were chosen.

FRESHMAN HONORARY FRAT HOLDS MEETING

Relly Elected President; Baker Vice President; Three New Members Initiated

J. B. Relly was elected president of the Honorary Freshman Fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma, at the final meeting which was held last Wednesday. After electing officers for the coming semester, three members were initiated. This meeting closed the first year for the fraternity at George Washington University.

J. B. Relly in accepting the position forwarded his plan for admittance into the highest honorary fraternity in the colleges of the land, Phi Beta Kappa, and also voiced his intentions to spread the honorary freshman fraternity throughout the East. The George Washington University chapter is the first one east of Ohio.

In retiring from the head position of the chapter, Richmond T. Zoch endorsed Relly's attitude and stated that he fully concurred with the plan for admittance into the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity.

The other officers elected were: Vice President, L. Sanford Baker; Secretary, W. O. Lewis; Treasurer, S. Shafer.

Three new members were admitted to the chapter and initiated at this meeting: Gus Bashein, William Johnson, and Mildred J. Jeffrey secured their keys.

The national chapter announces through the local chapter the fact that the Penn State University has recently petitioned and been accepted into the fraternity.
